HEADLINE: Woodcock Washburn Obtains Patent Interference Victory for Cephalon

BODY:

Woodcock Washburn LLP announced that its client, international biopharmaceutical company Cephalon, Inc. based in West Chester, Pennsylvania, has prevailed against Genentech, Inc., and NeuronZ Ltd. in an interference proceeding before the United States Patent and Trademark Office (PTO). At issue were 16 claims in two patents assigned to Genentech and NeuronZ relating to the treatment of neural damage or disease using an insulin-like growth factor (IGF). The PTO entered final judgment in favor of Cephalon in the interference. As a result, Genentech and NeuronZ have lost their rights to these patent claims, giving Cephalon the opportunity to claim the recited inventions for itself. The interference proceeding involved claims 1-15 of issued U.S. Patent No. 5,714,460 and claim 1 of issued U.S. Patent No. 5,861,373.
